Mesa del Sol Hires New CEO David S. Campbell to Guide Future Development Vision

Albuquerque, NM – December 1, 2020 - Mesa del Sol, LLC today announced the strategic hiring of David S. Campbell as Chief Executive Officer. Campbell will work with the Mesa del Sol Board of Directors to bring economic and physical development to the Mesa del Sol property, south of the Albuquerque International Sunport. Mesa del Sol is New Mexico's largest master planned community, hosting corporate offices, manufacturing, film studios, recreational fields, cultural facilities, and residential subdivisions.

"Development at Mesa del Sol is progressing at a rapid pace, and we needed a high caliber, experienced diplomatic executive like David Campbell to oversee and propel infrastructure and planning. To continue my vision of a smart, sustainable and safe community, it's imperative we have a strategic planner as part of our team," stated Steven B. Chavez, Managing Partner of Mesa del Sol, LLC.

Campbell is a retired U.S. diplomat, former CAO/City Manager of both Albuquerque and Rio Rancho city governments, and former City Attorney and City Planning Director for the City of Albuquerque. He has been a New Mexico lawyer since 1986, when he graduated from the UNM School of Law. His law practice was in real estate, zoning, and municipal government. He holds a Master's in Public Administration from UNM, and a Bachelor's in International Economics from Georgetown University's School of Foreign Service. Campbell's overseas work includes serving as a U.S. diplomat in Africa and South America, as well as being a U.S. Peace Corps volunteer in Africa. He speaks French and Spanish.
